

Vocational Counselling Workshop for Teaching and Counselling Staff

About the workshop

This interactive workshop is designed for teaching and counselling staff who are equipping themselves with necessary skills and knowledge for the implementation of vocational counselling service in their schools.

Vocational counselling is not just career guidance. In this workshop, participants will be encouraged to interactively share the current practice and status of school vocational counselling, difficulties and challenges encountered, and the merits and demerits of various popular vocational tools in practical use.

Workshop features:

- ✧ To understand key concepts and theories of vocational counselling from a professional psychological perspective;
- ✧ To address and identify career concerns of students of various levels and stages;
- ✧ Live demonstration of the usage of assessment tools in vocational counseling;
- ✧ Case sharing and skill demonstration in application of vocational theories;
- ✧ To equip and apply appropriate intervention skills in order to cater different vocational needs of students;
